

English Friendly Courses (EFC) at Polytechnic School (University of Alcalá)

English Friendly Courses (EFC) refers to Undergraduate or Master modules in which the lectures are taught in Spanish, but incoming students will be supported with learning materials, lectures notes, tutorials, exercises, laboratory guides, references, etc., in English. The incoming students will have exactly the same version of the documentation provided to Spanish students, but in English.

The teaching staff will communicate with the incoming students in English. All exams will be provided in English.

It is recommendable for the incoming students attending English Friendly Courses to have a minimum level of Spanish (basic user, level A) to be able to follow the lessons in Spanish (technical language).
